

Thomas Fang

Head of China Global Markets, UBS

Professional History

Thomas Fang is a member of the APAC Global Markets Management Committee, China Leadership Forum and Chair for China Global Markets Management Committee.

Thomas was appointed as China QFII Representative of UBS AG in June 2012, and Head of China Equities in October 2015, and then in November 2019, as the Head of China Global Markets. He is also a Board member at UBS Securities Co., Ltd. since 2018. Most recently, he was appointed as a member of the Mainland Opportunities Committee of the Hong Kong Financial Services Development Council ("FSDC").

Thomas rejoined UBS Hong Kong in June 2009 as Greater China Equities Derivatives Sales Head. He led the teams in structuring and marketing structured products for insurers, retail and private banks, securities houses and other institutions. Prior to rejoining UBS, Thomas was Head of Retail and Third Party sales team for all asset classes of Goldman Sachs. Between 2003 and 2007, he worked at the UBS Equity Intermediary Risk Management Products sales team. Between 1999 and 2003, he worked for Morgan Stanley New York and Hong Kong.

Education

Thomas Fang has a Bachelors degree in World Economy from Fudan University, Shanghai. He holds the CFA charter, a Master of Economics from the University of Ottawa and an MBA from the Anderson School at the University of California, Los Angeles. He is also a Board member of the Fink Center at UCLA.